

RUSSIAN WOMAN GUIDE

Generally, the number of men who accidentally found themselves interested in Russian girls grows rapidly. Just like any other popular trend, this one has many related myths and misunderstandings. In this guide, I want to cover as much of those as I only can.

Why the World Is So Obsessed with Russian Ladies?

- ♥ Their looks. They always look nice. This is a rule! Of course, we can mention here the perfect genes that were given to them by the cultural and genetic diversity of their ancestors. However, their beauty is not only about this. They understand that physical attractiveness requires a lot of work, and they voluntarily invest their time and effort into their bodies.
- ♥ The Old school approach to dating. Sometimes I feel that our girls simply forgot how to be feminine. Often, they don't care about their looks, and also try to possess some masculine qualities while trying to make their men more feminine.
- ♥ Level of education and wit. While their high education is a rather disputable topic due to incredible levels of corruption, their wit is something you can see with your own eyes. Rest assured that they know what they want to achieve. Furthermore, they see many ways to achieve the things they want.

Are Russian Girls Emancipated?

Recently, I have already said that they want their men to be strong, reliable, and expect them to take charge of relationships. For them, the idea that masculinity can be toxic is unacceptable. How on earth they will be able to find a real man if it is illegal to be real men, right? For this very reason, the concept of real gentlemen still works just fine in Russia.

So, does it mean that Russian women are always ready to obey? You have never been so wrong, bro. They completely allow you to be in charge of your relationship and be responsible for all the major decisions. At the same time, they will expect you make those decisions basing on their interests.

Do Russian Women Like Foreigners?

This one is a very interesting subject. First of all, it is obvious that those women who spend time on various websites seeking men are interested in dating foreigners. In fact, they intentionally search for them. As for reasons why they may do it, there can be many assumptions.

You can even imagine how often I heard from other people that my Russian lover dates me only because of my money. Yes, I have met people like that. Yes, you may let them fool you, but only once. After the first encounter with those goldiggers, you will be immune to them.

Russian Women Stereotypes: Which of Them Are True?

- ♥ They are heavy drinkers. Even tiny girls can raise a couple of shots of this drink. It is also true that there is always a bottle of vodka in every Russian house. However, not all of them are heavy drinkers
- ♥ Corruption. This one is true. Russia is a very corrupt country. However, this won't have anything to deal with you or me.
- ♥ Russians never smile. This is also true. On my first date with Russian girls, I was very concerned about why my partners never smile.
- ♥ Superstitions. Today, their old "superstitions" exist in the form of habits. For example, they still knock on the wood, sit before journeys, and spit three times. Most of them don't believe in those, but still, they often follow those rituals.
- ♥ Russians are showy. This myth appeared due to their desire to look good. You see, some people just don't have a natural taste of beauty. Maybe, they don't know about it, or just have no time to work on it.
- ♥ It is better to avoid clubs. True. The first reason for this is that their clubs are extremely expensive. And the second reason is that it is very easy to meet there rather aggressive drunk people who hate foreigners.
- ♥ All Russian women are obedient. A terrible myth that makes the wrong people come to Russia. Statistically speaking, Russia has the highest number of women who have businesses.
- ♥ Russians are terrible smokers. Even though people in this country still smoke a lot, only 20% of girls I used to date were smokers.
- ♥ All Russian girls are beautiful like dolls. Yes, they all try to look as good as they can. But no way this means that they all are like dolls. Russian girls are very diversified. There, you can meet nice a busty Russian woman and adorable flat-chested tomboys.

Ultimate Guide to Meeting and Dating a Russian Woman

How to approach a girl from Russia?

Firstly, it should be about respect and attention. If you decide to approach the girl, make her believe that she is your priority, not an option. Such an approach will help win her over much faster. These girls don't want to be perceived as an easy catch that is suitable only for a one-night stand. They are looking for serious relationships, romance, and care, so demonstrate appropriate treatment.

Do Russian women like compliments?

The main thing here is to find the middle ground. If you don't say anything pleasant that can be interpreted as a compliment, then a girl can get offended and conclude that you are not interested in her the way she needs it. However, if you overdo with compliments, a girl may think that something is wrong with you, and you are too clingy. Besides, your sweet words should have something to do with reality and not be the result of your imagination.

What about flowers?

You might have already heard about the cult of flowers in Russia. First dates don't work out without a nice bunch of flowers. It looks a bit old-fashioned, but does it really matter if you get additional scores thanks to it? The best thing you can do is to find out beforehand what flowers your date like. And one more thing – take only an odd number, it a crucial moment here.

- ♥ Red roses will symbolize your affection.
- ♥ Pink roses will be about sympathy and a new-born connection.
- ♥ Peony is about romance.

- ♥ Tulips are about love and adoration.

Best presents for a Russian girl

The thing that will be good for one girl, another one may treat as something awful and wrong. So, talk about her desires and wishes, let her tell about all her desires. Thus, you can understand what exactly will work out.

- ♥ A book by her favorite author.
- ♥ Delicious sweets.
- ♥ Certificate.
- ♥ Cosmetics.
- ♥ Journey.

How to treat a Russian woman in dating?

As I have already mentioned, respect should lay in the foundation of your treatment. It's an inevitable component of any healthy relationship. Understand what a girl is looking for and don't judge if your goals don't match. We are all different, and our aims change with time, so you don't have any right to treat her in the wrong way. If you don't like a thing about her, nobody makes you stay in touch with the girl. So, you should always remember that you are communicating with a human being, first of all. And when you are communicating with a woman, you shouldn't forget about her emotional nature.

Russian girls always open to new acquaintances and will be really delighted to meet a foreign man for building relations and family.
